We create solutions

Lajac was founded in year 2000 with experience of modern process ventilation and dust extraction. With products and system solutions for industrial dust handlings, particle transport, local exhaust and central vacuum cleaning, we create a good working environment and high productivity. Delivery reliability and product quality is high priority, as well as communication and collaboration with customers and suppliers. Lajac has since the beginning continuously developed products, while high self-competence has been built up.

Lajac is one of the leading suppliers of systems and products for dust handling and is represented in most parts of Europe. The goal is to grow globally through a wider product range and greater market share, where we always put the customer in focus.

Products and solutions from Lajac exist in environments where we appreciate the efficient production, high product quality and clean and safe working environment. Our products are used in a wide range of industries within woodworking, paper, metal and plastic working, all kind of workshops, textiles, food and agriculture, chemical and pharmaceutical.
